HEAD COACH

DABO SWINNEY

THE FIVE-TIME NATIONAL COACH-OF-THE-YEAR AND HIS ALL-IN APPROACH HAVE LED CLEMSON TO RECORD-SETTING HEIGHTS, INCLUDING THE 2016 AND 2018 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS, NINE ACC TITLES, UNPRECEDENTED ACADEMIC SUCCESS AND A SCHOOL RECORD FOR COACHING WINS (187) IN JUST 17 FULL SEASONS.

An illustrious coaching heritage is embedded in the foundation of Clemson football. At the dawn of the 20th century, the Tigers were led by future College Football Hall of Famer John Heisman. Hall of Famers Jess Neely, Frank Howard and Danny Ford followed in Heisman's winning tradition.

Now in his 19th season (and 18th full season) as Clemson's head coach, Dabo Swinney has already carved his name into that foundation, elevating himself amid a pantheon of Tiger greats as both the program's all-time winningest coach and the first in history to lead Clemson to multiple national championships.

Swinney is the winningest coach in ACC history. His 187 wins exceed the 173 victories that College Football Hall of Famer Bobby Bowden accrued after Florida State joined the conference prior to the 1992 season. Swinney passed Bowden in 2024 by earning his 174th career win, a feat he accomplished on the field bearing Bowden's name in Tallahassee.

Headlined by the two national championships, Swinney's tenure at Clemson has produced postseason success unprecedented at college football's highest level. From 2011-24, Clemson won at least one postseason contest (including both conference championship games and bowl/CFP games) in 14 straight seasons, an FBS record. Clemson recorded at least nine wins in each of those campaigns, tied for the third-longest streak in major college football history.

Despite having only coached in 18 seasons, Swinney is already tied for fourth in FBS history for the most wins through the first 20 seasons of a head coaching career (187), trailing only Tom Osborne (195), Nick Saban (191) and Bob Stoops (191). He is the nation's third-longest-tenured head coach, and he has produced 95 NFL draft picks, the most of any active head coach since his hire, and 20 first-round selections.

Clemson produced its 13th 10-win season in a 14-year span and its eighth ACC title in a 10-year span in 2024. A dramatic walkoff field goal to win the 2024 ACC Championship Game against SMU propelled Clemson to its seventh College Football Playoff berth (second most all-time) in the first year of the 12-team CFP era.

The 2024 conference title was his ninth, pushing him past Howard, a College Football Hall of Famer, for the most in school history. Swinney surpassed Howard as Clemson's all-time winningest coach on Nov. 4, 2023 in a 31-23 home win over No. 12 Notre Dame.

HEAD COACH DABO SWINNEY

Swinney earned his 150th career win in his 186th game as a head coach in the 2021 season finale. In terms of games played, Swinney became the sixth-fastest coach in FBS history, and the fourth-fastest in the modern era, to earn 150 career wins, trailing Urban Meyer (176), Gil Dobie (180), Barry Switzer (180), Fielding Yost (184) and Joe Paterno (184).

Swinney leads all active head coaches in combined national and conference championships (11). Clemson won six straight ACC titles from 2015-20, when Clemson and Oklahoma became the first among Power Five programs at the time to win at least six straight outright titles since Oklahoma (12 from 1948-59) accomplished the feat as part of the now-dissolved Big 8 Conference.

Clemson finished 2020 ranked as the nation's No. 3 squad, the Tigers' sixth consecutive top-four finish in the AP poll. In doing so, Swinney joined Bowden (13), Pete Carroll (7) and Bud Wilkinson (6) as the only head coaches since the AP poll's inception in 1936 to record six consecutive top-four finishes. During that stretch, Clemson appeared in the top five of 57 consecutive AP polls, the second-longest streak in history.

In the decade prior to the 2010s, Clemson posted a 117-22 record under Swinney's leadership, and the program's 117 wins trailed only Penn (124 in the 1890s) and Alabama (124 in the 2010s) to tie for the third most in a decade since 1890 in major college football. Clemson totaled at least 12 wins in five straight seasons (2015-19), tied for the longest-such streak in the modern era and only two seasons shy of Penn's record seven-season streak from 1892-98. Clemson totaled 69 wins during that five-year span, the most in a five-year stretch in the AP poll era.

In 2019, the Tigers earned their fifth-consecutive CFP berth following their fifth-consecutive ACC title. Clemson posted a 14-1 record, earning its fourth appearance in the CFP National Championship Game in five years. Prior to the season finale, Clemson extended its school-record winning streak to 29, tied with Florida State (2012-14) for the longest streak in ACC history and the 12th longest in FBS history.

Clemson dominated the vast majority of its 2019 foes, including an eight-game streak of wins by 30+ points to break the longest streak in the AP poll era, surpassing the previous mark of seven, set by the 1976 Michigan and 2011 Houston teams.

Clemson's 2018 season was one for which statistics and superlatives accumulated in historic fashion. The Tigers became the first major college football team in the modern era (and the first since Penn in 1897) to finish a season with a 15-0 record.

The list of "firsts" was long and distinguished. Clemson became the first program to win four consecutive ACC Atlantic Division titles, and with a 42-10 victory over Pittsburgh in the ACC Championship Game, it became the first program to win four straight ACC titles outright.

Clemson set school records for points (664) and total offense (7,718, also an ACC record). The defense held opponents to 13.1 points per game, leading the country in scoring defense for the first time in history. Clemson rattled off 10 consecutive wins of 20+ points to conclude the season, including blowout wins over No. 3 Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl and No. 1 Alabama in the College Football Playoff National Championship.

Seven players earned first or second-team All-America honors, including a school-record three players who collected consensus honors. The 2018 Tigers produced a program-record 18 All-ACC selections and became the first squad since Florida State in 1997 to produce the ACC Player-of-the-Year, ACC Offensive Player-of-the-Year, ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year, ACC Offensive Rookie-of-the-Year and ACC Coach-of-the-Year in one season.

Accolades also accumulated for Swinney, who earned his second career ACC Coach-of-the-Year honor and brought home the Woody Hayes Award as national coach-of-the-year. Less than a week after winning the national championship, Swinney won the Bear Bryant Award, becoming its first three-time winner.

Swinney's 2016 squad lived up to its hype after compiling a 14-1 record and earning a spot in the College Football Playoff for the second straight year. Along the way, Clemson defeated five top-25 foes.

Clemson beat the top-two teams in the national polls in consecutive games in the College Football Playoff at the end of the season. The Tigers blanked Ohio State 31-0 in the Fiesta Bowl, the first shutout suffered by Meyer as a head coach in his career and the first for Ohio State since 1993.

The Tigers then earned a rematch with No. 1 Alabama, and for the first time in school history, they took down the top-ranked team in a second epic battle with the storied Crimson Tide program. Deshaun Watson's touchdown pass to Hunter Renfrow with one second left on the clock gave Clemson a dramatic 35-31 national championship victory in Tampa, Fla. Swinney received the Bear Bryant Award as national coach-of-the-year for the second consecutive season.

Swinney coached Watson to two record-setting seasons (2015,16). The two-time Heisman Trophy finalist became the first FBS player to total 4,000 passing yards and 1,000 rushing yards in a season in 2015, and he followed by setting an ACC record with 41 passing touchdowns in 2016. Watson won the Davey O'Brien Award and Manning Award in back-to-back years.

Swinney guided Clemson to the No. 1 national ranking in every CFP ranking in 2015 and led the Tigers to their first national championship game appearance under the new format after his team defeated Oklahoma 37-17 in the 2015 Orange Bowl. The Tigers led Alabama in the fourth quarter of the championship contest, but they came up just short (45-40) in an epic game in Glendale, Ariz.

Swinney was named Clemson's interim head coach in 2008, replacing Tommy Bowden. Swinney led the Tigers to a 4-2 record during the rest of the 2008 regular season, including a win over South Carolina in the regular-season finale to earn a Gator Bowl bid against Nebraska.

On Dec. 1, 2008, his interim tag was removed and he was named head coach. At the time, there had been 28 interim head coaches at the FBS level since 1970, and those coaches had combined for a 26-86-2 record. Only one of those 28 interim head coaches posted a winning record, and that was Swinney. When he was hired as head coach, he became just the second interim head coach to be elevated to the head coach position at a school during that time period.

Swinney is the senior member of ACC head coaches and entered 2026 as the third-longest-tenured FBS head coach. He is one of four active head coaches (Kirby Smart, Ryan Day, Curt Cignetti) with an FBS national championship to his credit and one of only two (Smart) with multiple national titles at college football's highest level.

Clemson's success on the gridiron has been matched by its prowess in the classroom. Clemson's 99-percent mark in the NCAA Graduation Success Rate's metric (released in 2024 for the 2017 cohort) was the highest ever recorded among public Power Five football programs in the 20 years the NCAA has tracked the metric. Clemson and Harvard represent the only two Division I football programs to post a 98+ percent mark over each of the last three cohorts released from 2024-26, and Clemson is the only FBS program to accomplish the feat.

Swinney has demonstrated his dedication to the community through Dabo's All In Team Foundation. Since 2009, the foundation has given more than $14.6 million back to communities and programs in the state. Since 2012, its grant program has distributed nearly 2,000 grants totaling in excess of $9.55 million, including $1.15 million to 296 organizations in 2025 alone.

One of the foundation's core focus areas is breast cancer research, education, technology and aid, areas for which the foundation has raised and donated more than $2.5 million through events like the annual Dabo Swinney Ladies Clinic as well as from general donations. To date, the foundation has provided the lead gifts for three mobile mammography buses that travel across multiple counties to provide affordable and accessible mammograms to those who may not otherwise have easy access to care.

Swinney was named the honorary coach for the 2019 Allstate AFCA Good Works

Team. In the spring of 2021, Swinney accepted the Uncommon Award from Pro Football Hall of Fame Coach Tony Dungy, who presents the honor annually to figures in football who "take the tough road, follow a higher calling and set a higher standard."

Swinney, a 1993 Alabama graduate, joined the Clemson staff prior to the 2003 season. In his first 23 years as an assistant or head coach at Clemson, the Tigers finished in the top 25 of the polls 18 times and totaled 50 wins over top-25 teams.

He coached his wide receiver position to a level of consistency that had not been seen previously at Clemson. He had a wide receiver finish first or second in the ACC in receptions in five of his six seasons as an assistant coach. In his first season, he had three of the top-10 receivers in the conference, a first in Tiger history.

Swinney received his bachelor's degree in commerce & business administration from Alabama in 1993 after lettering three times (1990-92). A walk-on who went on to earn a scholarship, he was a wide receiver on Alabama's 1992 national title team. He was also named to the All-SEC Academic team along with being an SEC Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll member in 1990 and 1992.

After his playing career, he was a graduate assistant at Alabama from 1993-95. He received a master's degree in business administration from Alabama in 1995.

Swinney became a full-time assistant coach at Alabama in February 1996 under Head Coach Gene Stallings and coached a total of five seasons there on a full-time basis. In 1998, he coached Alabama's wide receivers, a position he held for three years. At the end of 1999, Swinney coached the Crimson Tide in the 2000 Orange Bowl after winning the SEC Championship Game.

During his time at Alabama, Swinney was a part of six teams with double-digit wins, five top-10 finishes, one national title (1992), three SEC championships (1989, 92, 99) and five SEC West Division titles (1992, 93, 94, 96, 99) as a player and coach.

Swinney married the former Kathleen Bassett in 1994. They have three sons, Will, Drew and Clay. Will serves in a player development role at Clemson as an assistant wide receivers coach. Drew spent three seasons on Clemson's staff before becoming Samford's wide receivers coach in 2026. Clay is a fifth-year player on the 2026 Tiger football team. 🐾

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS GRAHAM NEFF

Graham Neff was named Clemson's 14th director of athletics on Dec. 23, 2021 and is in the midst of his 14th year at Clemson and fifth full season as director of athletics. During his tenure, Neff has established himself as a forward-thinking leader with a focus on student-athlete well-being and academic and athletic success. Additionally, he has helped to navigate a complicated national landscape, working closely with key stakeholders to stay at the forefront of the issues with an emphasis on the impacts to Clemson.

Neff has overseen significant facility development, including investments in football and a women's sport expansion project to house Clemson's lacrosse and gymnastics teams. In 2025, Clemson opened the 55,000-square-foot Watt Family Performance & Wellness Center.

He led the bringing of Clemson's multimedia rights in-house, developed a comprehensive NIL program and launched a streaming service, named Clemson+. The athletic department announced the formation of Clemson Ventures, which is an innovative take on commercial revenue generation within the athletic department, including sales, media creation, digital marketing, NIL and events verticals. Additionally, IPTAY has seen record-breaking growth during the past two years, which included the largest gift in IPTAY history.

Academically, Clemson's graduation success rate has been above 91 percent for 11 consecutive years, including highest in the nation among public power-conference institutions for two straight years with a 96-percent mark for the most-recent data release. The student-athlete total GPA has been above 3.0 for 12 straight semesters.

All of this led to Clemson being named one of Front Office Sports' Best Collegiate Athletic Departments nationally.

On the field, it has led to significant results. In 2022-23, Tiger teams won four ACC championships in a single season for the first time since 1998-99. In the 2023-24 year, four programs advanced to national quarterfinals, an accomplishment that had not occurred in a single season since 1979-80. In 2023, the men's soccer program claimed its second national championship in three years. Men's soccer also won the 2023 ACC title, while there was a historic run by the men's basketball program, which knocked off powerhouses Baylor and Arizona in the NCAA Tourney. Women's soccer advanced to its first College Cup in 2023 as well.

Clemson made its return to the College Football Playoff in 2024 after claiming the ACC championship and won an ACC title in softball and women's indoor track & field in 2024-25. The Tigers also made NCAA Tournament appearances in men's soccer (Sweet 16), gymnastics (regional quarterfinal), lacrosse (Sweet 16), men's and women's tennis, softball (super regional) and baseball.

- Clemson posted its highest single-year Academic Progress Rate (APR) history, a 998 out of 1,000 (includes 2021-22 through 2024-25 academic year)
- Ten sports had perfect 1,000 scores
- 14 sports set program records

- Clemson had a 96 percent mark in Graduate Success Rate (GSR), tied for the second-highest amongst public institutions and trails only Cincinnati (95.5%)

Clemson student-athletes recorded GPAs of 3.33 in the Fall and a record 3.34 in the Spring, making it 16 consecutive semesters with a cumulative GPA of 3.30 or higher.

Neff has been in senior leadership positions within Clemson athletics since 2013, including as chief financial officer and director of capital projects prior to his most-recent role as deputy director of athletics. Neff has helped oversee the build and financing of more than $200 million in facility improvements, aided in the continued development of IPTAY and served as a sport administrator for both football and men's basketball.

Neff works consistently with key university stakeholders, including the university Executive Leadership Team, Board of Trustees, IPTAY Board of Directors, Athletics Council and several university committees and appointments.

During his time as a sport supervisor, the football program won two national titles and the men's basketball program made two NCAA Tournament appearances, including a Sweet 16 run in 2018.

Neff has helped develop several key areas of the department, including the financial philosophy, fundraising, student-athlete welfare and external operations management. In 2019, he was named one of Sports Business Daily's Power Players, then was named to SBJ's 40 Under 40 list in 2021.

Prior to his role as deputy director of athletics, he joined Clemson in April 2013 as associate AD of finance and facilities. Before Clemson, Neff served more than two years in several senior administrative roles at Middle Tennessee athletics, with emphasis in finance, facilities and external operations.

A civil engineering graduate of Georgia Tech, he served as a student manager for men's basketball under Head Coach Paul Hewitt, advancing to a Final Four in 2004. Neff worked in the financial advisory services group at Deloitte & Touche from 2006-08 prior to returning to a finance and ticketing role at Georgia Tech Athletic Association. He earned an MBA from Georgia Tech in 2010.

Neff and his wife, Kristin, have three sons, Grady and twins Emmett and Nolan, and a dog, Ada.

TIGER TRADITIONS

TIGER PAW

John Antonio contacted the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago, Ill. and asked for a plaster-of-Paris cast of the imprint of a tiger's paw. On July 21, 1970, Clemson University unveiled the Tiger Paw with a blitz of press conferences around the state. Soon after its release, Tiger Paws were painted on all highways headed into Clemson. It was copyrighted after the 1981 national championship season when Clemson merchandising exploded. In 2026, we celebrate 56 years of the Tiger Paw as one of the most recognizable logos in the nation.

ALMA MATER

SOLID ORANGE FRIDAY

Every Friday, Clemson students, faculty, staff and alumni everywhere can be found wearing orange in a show of unity and pride.

TIGER MASCOTS

All Clemson's athletic teams have been nicknamed, "Tigers," since 1896, when Head Coach Walter Riggs brought the name from his alma mater, Auburn. The first costumed Tiger mascot appeared in the early 1950s. The nephew of the Tiger mascot, the Tiger Cub, was introduced in 1993. These furry creatures can be seen signing autographs, getting their picture taken with dignitaries and doing pushups every time Clemson scores.

TIGER WALK

Established during the 2008 season when Dabo Swinney was named interim head coach, Tiger Walk takes place before every Clemson home game in the Rogers Family Lot. The team, led by Swinney, is dropped off at Perimeter Road and walks to the west entrance of Memorial Stadium on a 200-yard path lined with Clemson faithful. In 2023, Clemson unveiled the Brown Family Tiger Walk, a new entrance and brick walkway designed to support this beloved tradition. The names of every team captain in program history are embedded in the path.

HOMECOMING

The excitement, spirit and enthusiasm of Homecoming celebrations have been a Clemson tradition since 1914. During the week preceding the game at Memorial Stadium, Clemson alumni from across the country return to campus. Student organizations build Homecoming displays and construct a house for Habitat for Humanity on Bowman Field in front of Tillman Hall. The last Homecoming event is Tigerama, one of the nation's largest student-run pep rallies. Tigerama began in 1957 and has drawn a crowd of Tiger fans ever since for skits, the crowning of Miss Homecoming and fireworks.

"TIGER RAG"

In 1942, Student Band Director Dean Ross found the sheet music for "Tiger Rag" in an Atlanta, Ga. music store and brought it back to campus to play at football games. "Tiger Fanfare," by Director Mark Spede, was added in 2003, and today, the band has more than 15 ways to play what is known as "the song that shakes the Southland!"

MILITARY HERITAGE

Clemson University's tradition of military excellence dates to its founding as a military school for cadets seeking the highest academic excellence. In 1916, ROTC was instituted under the National Defense Act, and in 1917, the entire senior class enlisted in World War I. To date, more than 10,000 Clemson alumni have served in the armed forces, and 498 have given their lives to secure the freedom of others. Clemson honors its military heroes with events throughout the year, culminating with Military Appreciation Day during a game at Memorial Stadium.

$2 BILLS

In 1977, the series between Georgia Tech and Clemson came to an end due to a scheduling dispute. In a show of protest, Clemson students and alumni stamped $2 bills with Tiger Paws and used them in Atlanta, Ga. to illustrate the money Tiger fans spent at athletic events. Today, Clemson fans still use $2 bills when attending away football games and bowl games to show the economic impact of the Clemson Family across the country.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Clemson's Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

Clemson has finished in the top 20 in the country in average home attendance for 45 straight seasons. Clemson once again led the conference and finished 15th in the nation in average home attendance in 2025 (79,142).

The storied edifice added to its legend when the first meeting of father-and-son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) took place before a record crowd of 86,092 fans in 1999. The legend was further enhanced from 2016-22, when the Tigers recorded an ACC-record 40-game home winning streak, tied for the eighth-longest streak in FBS history. Since the advent of the College Football Playoff prior to the 2014 season, Clemson is 73-9 at home, the third-most home wins in the country during that span.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in the 1942 season, the legendary games and players and Clemson's corresponding rate of success.

Entering the 2026 season, the Tigers totaled 348 wins in 84 years and won 76.0 percent of the contests (348-110-7). Visiting defending national champions are 0-3 all-time at Memorial Stadium as well.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers, but it was constructed against the advice of at least one coach. Before Jess Neely left for Rice after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message.

"Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the YMCA. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Neely's advice, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place took some clearing, as there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

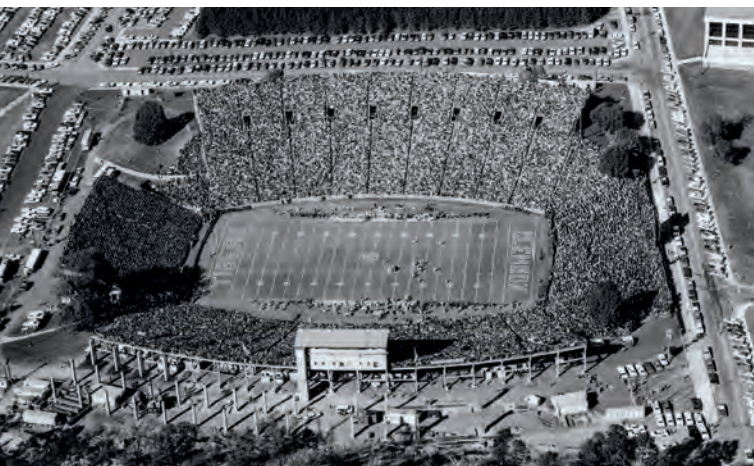

The crews went to work, clearing, cutting, pouring and forming. On Sept. 19, 1942, Memorial Stadium opened with Clemson defeating Presbyterian by a score of 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for the opener would soon grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 1940s, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two football team members, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The stadium's construction did not proceed without problems. One afternoon during the clearing of the land, a young player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then proceeded to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, he was swollen twice his size and hospitalized.

There are many other stories about the stadium, including one that Frank Howard

"DEATH VALLEY" ORIGIN

THROUGH THE YEARS, MEMORIAL STADIUM HAS BECOME KNOWN AS "DEATH VALLEY" ACROSS THE COUNTRY. IT WAS TAGGED BY PRESBYTERIAN HEAD COACH LONNIE McMILLIAN DURING THE LATE 1940s. AFTER BRINGING HIS TEAMS TO CLEMSON FOR MANY YEARS AND GETTING WHIPPED, HE SAID THE PLACE WAS LIKE "DEATH VALLEY." A FEW YEARS LATER, THE NAME STUCK.

put a chew of tobacco in each corner as the concrete was poured.

Howard said that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems.

"About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he said. "After three weeks on July 15, we had only gotten about halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far and I would give them three more weeks' pay for however long it took to finish. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that, it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard said on the day of the first game in the stadium, "The gates were hung at 1 p.m., and we played at 2 p.m." But that would be all of the construction for a while.

Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added, and in 1960, 5,658 west end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large east end zone ("Green Grass" section), this expansion increased capacity to 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled, the first in 1978 and the second in 1983. It increased capacity to over 80,000, which makes it one of the largest on-campus stadiums in the country. In 2006, the WestZone was added, an area that contains locker rooms, offices, a student-athlete enrichment center and luxury club level that has over 1,000 seats.

In 2022, Clemson debuted a number of stadium enhancements. The videoboard had its first major upgrade since 2005, installing the new affectionately and unofficially nicknamed "DaboTron" that measures 126 feet wide by 56.5 feet tall. The eight main stadium light poles were updated to an LED system, allowing for individual light fixture control, spotlighting of Howard's Rock and higher-quality field lighting.

The west side of the stadium received a facelift with the addition of IPTAY's Masters Club, a 688-seat premium area on the concourse level.

Clemson opened Phase II of renovations for the 2023 season, including a new game-day locker room and a complete reimagining of Lot 5 and the Tiger Walk experience as a 365-day destination for Clemson fans.

In recent years, the facility has returned to expanded use as an entertainment destination. In the late 20th century, the stadium hosted marquee international musical acts, including The Rolling Stones, Pink Floyd, The Eagles, Billy Joel, Elton John, U2, Rage Against The Machine and others.

In 2026, Clemson hosted its first major concert in 27 years when George Strait returned and set a Memorial Stadium attendance record (90,037), the largest crowd outside of the state of Texas in the troubadour's career.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley" across the country. It was tagged by Presbyterian Head Coach Lonnie McMillian during the late 1940s. After bringing his teams to Clemson for many years and getting whipped, he said the place was like "Death Valley." A few years later, the name stuck.

During the 1974 season, the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to Clemson University.

Luckily, it wasn't built behind the "Y." 🐾

RUNNING DOWN THE HILL

What has been described by television commentator Brent Musburger as “the most exciting 25 seconds in college football” from a color and pageantry standpoint actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

When Memorial Stadium opened in 1942, players dressed in Fike Fieldhouse, walked down Williamson Road, entered at the gate underneath where the videoboard stands and jogged down the Hill for their warmup exercises. There was little fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no Tiger Paw flag and no “Tiger Rag” played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side-straddle hop. That is the way things went for the next 25 years.

In 1964 or 1965, Sam Jones (Clemson class of 1919) made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, California and picked up a white flint rock. Jones presented the rock to legendary Head Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, California to Death Valley, South Carolina.

The rock laid on Howard’s office floor in Fike Fieldhouse for months. One day, he was cleaning up his office and told Gene Willimon (IPTAY executive secretary) to “take this rock and throw it over the fence or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office!”

Willimon did not think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought over 1,900 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid 1960s, Memorial Stadium was living up to its moniker (“Death Valley”) because of the number of Tiger victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian during the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him opened each season by playing at Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shutouts in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties, his teams were getting “killed” by the Tigers regularly.

In 1948, McMillian remarked to the media that he was taking his team to play Clemson in “Death Valley.” An occasional reference to Memorial Stadium by that name could be heard for the next four years, but when Howard started calling it “Death Valley” during the 1950s, the name took off. In 2026, Clemson is celebrating its 85th year in the “Valley.”

But getting back to Howard’s Rock.

It was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the Hill on the stadium’s east side. It was unveiled Sept. 24, 1966, when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers trailed by 18 points with 17 minutes left in the game and came back to win 40-35 on a 75-yard pass from Jimmy Addison to Jack Jackson in the fourth quarter. That was quite a debut for Howard’s Rock.

The team members started rubbing Howard’s Rock prior to running down the Hill on Sept. 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest 23-6.

Prior to running down the Hill that day, Howard told his players, “If you’re going to give 110 percent, you can rub that Rock. If you’re not, keep your filthy hands off it!” He told of the incident the following day on his television show, and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach in 1970, he made the logical decision that the team would make its final entrance out of the new dressing room in the west end zone.

In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four games of 1972, when the Tigers did not run down the Hill, their combined record was 6-9.

The seniors, led by Ben Anderson, decided to come down the Hill prior to the South Carolina game in the 1972 finale. The result, in a cold and freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory thanks in large part to Jimmy Williamson’s deflected pass on a two-point conversion attempt, which preserved the narrow win.

Clemson has made the entrance before every home game since 1942, except for the years mentioned and the first game in 1973 (449 times entering 2026).

After final warmups, the team gathers in its dressing room under the west end zone stands for its final pregame instructions. Ten minutes prior to kickoff, the players and coaches board multiple buses, ride around the north stands to the east end zone and disembark to the top of the Hill behind Howard’s Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms, and led by a giant Tiger Paw flag carried by the spirit squads, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and plays “Tiger Rag.” The frenzy starts in all sincerity and lasts three hours. It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years. 🐾

ALLEN N. REEVES FOOTBALL COMPLEX

Dabo Swinney and Tiger athletics sought to build “the forever home of Clemson football” when envisioning what would become the Allen N. Reeves Football Complex, which opened in 2017. It remains among the gold standards of performance facilities, not just in college football, but in all of sports. In 2021, 247Sports ranked it as the nation’s top facility.

While talk about the $55 million facility spanning more than 142,000 square feet often centers around its bells and whistles, its design offers unparalleled functionality.

“Clemson has the best facilities I’ve ever seen,” said national college football commentator Josh Pate of the nine-year-old facility in 2026. “I’ve been to all of them now. There is no place out there you would even think is loosely up there in the facilities arms race...I’ve never seen facilities that are on par with Clemson’s. I was blown away.”

Upon entry into the main lobby of Allen N. Reeves Football Complex, the first thing visitors see are national championship trophies sitting in front of a video screen flanked by massive trophy cases housing additional hardware from Clemson’s history. The lobby also displays a scaled replica of Howard’s Rock and the Hill from Memorial Stadium.

At the behest of Swinney’s original design, visible on the lobby’s right side is the home of P.A.W. Journey, a program that cultivates leadership. Next to it, a corridor lined with championship rings won in Tiger history leads to the Hendrix Family Paw Bistro, the best-in-class dining facility.

Prior to the 2023 season, Clemson completed the Allen N. Reeves Clemson Athletics Branding Institute, a 12,000-square-foot, two-story area on the west end of the Betty Sheppard Poe & William Maxwell Poe Indoor Facility and steps from the weight room.

The institute, described in detail on page 47 and known as “The CAB,” contains two spacious photo and video studios, a customizable lighting grid, an audio studio, editing space, office space, meeting space and more to provide on-site resources for student-athletes choosing to pursue sponsorship opportunities and content generation.

A balcony on the top level of the institute overlooks the indoor facility, an 80,000-square-foot, $10 million structure. Clemson updated the facility in 2023, replacing the playing surface.

In 2022, Clemson invested significantly in the holistic health and wellness of its student-athletes with the “100 Yards of Wellness” area. Detailed on page 49, the project has become a central hub and hotbed of student-athlete activity as modern athletes continue to buy into the concept of “prehab,” load management and active recovery.

In addition to being a free resource for the active student-athletes, the space has become a draw for Clemson alumni in the NFL. With Clemson’s professional-grade-or-better areas for training, Tigers in the NFL have routinely returned and brought their NFL teammates to train in Clemson’s facilities.

The outdoor player village includes a nine-hole miniature golf course, an artificial-surface wiffle ball diamond, a sand volleyball facility, pickleball court, horseshoe pit, fountain with a Tiger Paw monument, outdoor dining space and a lounge area.

The indoor player lounge includes a two-lane bowling alley, video-game console centers, table games, arcade games and a golf simulator. Down the corridor is an expanded barber shop as well.

Clemson’s weight room covers 23,000 square feet and debuted as the nation’s largest football-only weight room with state-of-the-art equipment and a nutritional fuel bar.

The hydrotherapy areas include a large horizontal 47-degree cold tub that can handle 61 players at one time. Next to the locker room, it sits adjacent to the hydrotherapy portion of the 100 Yards of Wellness area that hosts a lap pool and four therapy pools.

The second floor houses offices and meeting spaces for Clemson football personnel, including Swinney’s office, which serves for invited guests as a de facto museum of Clemson football and his career journey.

The second floor contains customized and recently renovated meeting space for each position and the team meeting room that seats 180 people. But most famously, connecting the second-floor meeting spaces down to the locker room, weight room and practice fields is Clemson’s renowned slide, which represents the most efficient means to get Tiger players from meeting spaces to practice in a timely manner. 🐾

P.A.W. JOURNEY

Clemson football is unapologetic about developing its scholar-athletes through the cutting-edge leadership initiative that is P.A.W. Journey. P.A.W., which stands for “Passionate About Winning,” is the founding principle of this player relations program, positioning Clemson’s football scholar-athletes to maintain a continually competitive posture towards all aspects of their lives.

Head Coach Dabo Swinney consistently encourages his scholar-athletes to maximize all that football has to offer, including opportunities it creates and the skills it cultivates within each young man that can be used for a lifetime. P.A.W. Journey, serving as the guiding light for how to transfer all the treasure to be gained from football, supports scholar-athletes daily in this endeavor.

P.A.W. Journey focuses on holistic development through its three pillars: Striped, C.U. in Life and 5th Quarter. These pillars work harmoniously to progressively develop individuals as a whole so they can become first-class men and world-class leaders.

Striped intentionally identifies and fosters each person’s sense of purpose and the man they aspire to become. C.U. in Life bridges the gap between excellence on the field and excellence in community, career and around the globe.

The 5th Quarter pillar instills entrepreneurial spirit and executive skills through professional development, influential marketplace exposure and purposeful employment opportunities.

Founded and led by Clemson’s very own Jeff Davis, P.A.W. Journey is the national model for player relations. Along with his team of dedicated personnel, Jeuel Davis, Kayla Owens, Akeem Robinson, Alisabeth Faircloth and Drew Keener, P.A.W. Journey supports and mentors Clemson’s football scholar-athletes from the time they step on campus to their graduation and far beyond.

Leaders of the program have always embraced the significance of this holistic development and put their all into it just like they do with football, from becoming a P.A.W. Journey ambassador to attending Business Week in Miami, a microinternship in New York and most recently a service abroad trip to Australia. They are well known for their impeccable and tireless work ethic, which translates to excellence in all they do.

The program not only encourages the Tigers to persevere through adversity and hone their skills and passions, it empowers them to lead. While no two journeys look the same, the ability to lead with confidence and conviction grows each day with each young man and the experiences they take part in.

Despite transferring from Alabama for a greater opportunity on the field, linebacker Jeremiah Alexander immediately committed to greater opportunities off the field through P.A.W. Journey. As one of just three transfers who earned the prestigious honor of becoming a P.A.W. Journey ambassador during his first semester at Clemson, Alexander has been grateful for the holistic development and leadership that P.A.W. Journey offers.

“In the transition from Alabama, P.A.W. Journey has affected me in such a positive way simply because it opens up a new mind-set,” said Alexander. “It builds confidence in who I am on the field because of who I am off the field.”

Alexander earned June 2025 P.A.T. Man-of-the-Month honors, has engaged in multiple speaking engagements about the significance and uniqueness of the P.A.W. Journey program with both the team and recruits and earned a spot with one of P.A.W. Journey’s most competitive microinternships with the NFL’s front office. A lifestyle of winning is what the Alabaster, Ala. native passionately pursues and endeavors to prepare for in his future.

Within the ever-evolving landscape of college football, P.A.W. Journey is confident in its ability to recognize and respond to the needs of the newly empowered scholar-athlete at Clemson University and beyond.

Being passionate about winning in the sport of football, and more importantly in life, will always be the foundation for every Clemson Tiger to pursue first-class manhood and world-class leadership. 🐾

CLEMSON ATHLETICS BRANDING INSTITUTE

The “Best” in “Best is the Standard” got better in 2023, as Clemson opened Allen N. Reeves Clemson Athletics Branding Institute to provide student-athletes best-in-class facilities and resources for branding, marketing, sponsorship, content creation and much more.

Attached to the west end of the Poe Indoor Facility, the 12,000-square-foot, two-story facility houses two photo and video studios, an audio studio, editing space and a conference room, all intended to provide on-site resources for student-athletes choosing to pursue sponsorship opportunities and content generation. The facility is also home to the Smart Family Media Center, located directly inside the main doors.

From its ideation, “The CAB,” as Head Coach Dabo Swinney nicknamed it, has been intended as a destination for student-athletes seeking branding guidance and resources to help elevate themselves among a crowded marketplace.

“We’re going to call it ‘The CAB,’ because what does a cab do? It gives you a lift to your destination,” said Swinney. “But you’ve gotta pay the fare. We can’t do it for you. You’ve got to do the work. I’m really excited about it, because it’s a living, breathing space where our guys know they can go for expertise.

“This was an opportunity for our players to know that if they want help with branding, sponsorship, NIL, tax education, finances and all of these very real-world issues, you go to ‘The CAB,’ where we have a dedicated space with people ready to help them.”

According to C.D. Davies, long-time financial services CEO and former NIL coordinator, that real-world experience is indispensable and part of Clemson’s educational mission.

“This is a great education for them,” said Davies of the opportunity for Clemson student-athletes to monetize their name, image and likeness. “They’re getting an education that a lot of business schools don’t get to give young people as far as actually being in the midst of doing these deals and negotiating for themselves, and we’re giving them all the tools we can make sure our players are in control of these transactions.”

Down the walkway overlooking the practice field sit three studio spaces for content creation. The first includes a 625-square-foot infinity wall plus permanently installed customizable lighting to provide Clemson content creators and others quick, turnkey options for professional-grade studio space.

The second studio is a blank canvas to provide flexibility for creation of custom photo and video sets. The third is a soundproof studio complete with top-of-the-line equipment for the production of audio content.

The ground level is home to the Smart Family Media Center, which is a hub for Clemson’s award-winning media operations. The 1,200-square-foot center includes a 163-inch video branding wall, which can be customized for each student-athlete.

The creation of the Smart Family Media Center is the latest illustration of Clemson’s larger commitment to serving local and national media and helping them tell the stories of Tiger student-athletes.

Through the 2025 season, Clemson’s athletic communications staff won 13 Super 11 awards, presented annually by Football Writers Association of America to the FBS’ most helpful communications departments.

That total is the most in the award’s history. The coaches’ and student-athletes’ helpfulness and authenticity with the media resulted in Clemson becoming the first program in the nation to earn the honor 11 consecutive years, doing so from 2015-25.

Building construction and renovations for “The CAB” also included the creation of updated spaces for pro scouts and returning Clemson football players. A few yards away is Clemson’s NFL locker room, a dedicated space for former Tiger players to dress and shower upon their return to Tigertown to train during the offseason. 🐾

100 YARDS OF WELLNESS

Clemson's path to the forefront of elite athlete recovery started with a culture change. For generations, despite the best efforts and cheeriest dispositions of athletic trainers, an unfortunate misconception lingered...the athletic training room is for the injured, and for the injured, the athletic training room is not a happy place to be.

"We really wanted to get away from the mentality of the 'training room'," said Head Coach Dabo Swinney. "We wanted to get away from the idea that it was only for guys who are injured and don't want to be in there."

Enter the Jeanne & Brian Penner 100 Yards of Wellness, Clemson's $4.9-million wellness space at the Allen N. Reeves Football Complex that spans roughly 300 feet in length. It has become a central hub of activity and major point of pride for Clemson football.

Completed in 2022, the 100 Yards of Wellness represents the natural evolution of Tiger football's long-time commitment to student-athlete health and wellness. By literally and figuratively breaking down walls that divided the focus areas, the new space combines Clemson's athletic training and rehabilitation expertise with its continued innovation in active recovery and applied science.

"Now it's a total wellness commitment, the mental side, the wellness side, the 'pre-hab' side, the applied science side, your stretching, your nutrition...all of it is combined in this one big space," said Swinney. "It has created an environment where the guys want to be there all the time."

Whereas walls previously divided the athletic training room from the recovery space, the new open-concept area features Clemson's medical diagnostic and treatment area to the north and the recovery space to the south, bisected by a nutrition bar.

The center has created additional collaboration between the athletic training staff, led by Director of Athletic Training Pat Richards, and the applied science group, pioneered by Dr. Alex Bina.

The treatment and athletic training room area includes all requisite athletic training resources, including a diagnostic office with a full digital X-ray space and diagnostic ultrasound, a general medical exam room, 30 yards of turf and hydrotherapy areas, including two underwater treadmills. Among the features of the recovery center are:

- A cryotherapy chamber for muscle recovery through extreme cold temperature exposure.
- Infrared hyperthermic Cocoon pods for far-infrared light therapy and vibrational massage.

- A sensory deprivation float tank that houses 1,200 pounds of Epsom salt dissolved in water at skin temperature to remove athletes from light, sound and some gravitational force.
- Photobiomodulation therapy beds that leverage multiple wavelengths of infrared light to reduce oxidative stress.
- A hyperbaric chamber to create a pressurized environment for concentrated oxygen intake.
- Massage chairs, including both percussive massage and hydromassage options.
- Percussive Hypervolt massage guns.
- Dedicated tables and space for practitioner-assisted stretching, percussive massage gun therapy and Normatec compressive sleeves provided to each player prior to the season.
- Functional testing equipment to obtain objective information on muscle and joint function that can be used for injury prevention and return-to-play purposes.

Atop a portion of the south end of the recovery area is the "Tranquility Tower," a quiet upstairs location with much of the same recovery equipment, but in a serene, peaceful environment conducive to rest and away from the activity of the main floor.

Clemson's recovery resources have become a source of envy for former players. Two-time All-American and former NFL wideout Sammy Watkins told Swinney that he routinely spent more than $50,000 annually on services to maintain his body now provided to Tiger student-athletes for free.

The facility has also become a destination for Clemson's NFL alumni, as several dozen NFL players have trained in Clemson during recent offseasons to take advantage of the state-of-the-art recovery space. 🐾

CLEMSON APPLIED SCIENCE LAB

The Brook T. Smith Clemson Applied Science Lab has a very simple mission...“Carry out the vision of the head football coach by providing confidence to student-athletes that their physical and technical development is constantly advancing.”

Director of Applied Science Dr. Alex Bina has done everything in his power to ensure that those words ring true and Tiger student-athletes are given every possible opportunity to both improve performance and physically recover, using any and all modern technologies available.

The two key focuses of “The CASL” are maximizing performance and expediting recovery. The ultimate goal is quantifying human performance.

Once the body and its abilities are put into numerical terms, it becomes considerably easier to determine what needs to be improved and the best possible route to enhance it.

Throughout the yearly training cycle, athletes are evaluated using technologies that leverage motion capture, force plates, sensory station, augmented reality, force transducers and GPS sensors in order to quantify athletic development. Through this process, an athlete’s body composition, movement efficiency, vertical jump performance, cognitive reasoning skills, specific muscle strength, joint range of motion and on-field speed become clear to coach and athlete alike.

By building a database of the “Clemson Effect” on athlete development and performance, the Clemson football staff can continue to build championship squads for future generations of Tiger players.

Not only does “The CASL” provide coaches and student-athletes with quantitative data with which they can analyze performance, it also is a key resource for student-athletes to use during the recovery process and injury risk mitigation protocols. Bina stressed that quick and healthy recovery is the priority of the staff at “The CASL.”

The path to success in recovery is a two-step process. The first is communication and collaboration between the student-athlete and his strength & conditioning coach, nutrition and sports medicine experts and his sports psychologist. The second is using the established baseline scores of the student-athlete as targets for return-to-play protocols and as a foundation for injury-prevention training.

In 2022, through a collaborative effort with the sports medicine staff, “The CASL” launched an injury-risk-mitigation protocol that leverages data analysis to inform athlete-specific interventions. After each training cycle (winter, spring, summer), the entire roster is evaluated for strength and mobility deficiencies or imbalances. These deficiencies inspire tune-up exercises carried out by the sports medicine staff to attack issues before they become long-term injuries.

The injury-risk-mitigation program carried out in “The CASL” was made possible through a cornerstone gift donated by Clemson alum and former Student Athletic Trainer Brook T. Smith ('89) to ensure that Tiger student-athletes can benefit from leading innovations occurring in human performance development.

Bina has always been interested in bio-engineering, the field in which he earned his degree at Penn State. Bina, who received his Ph.D. from Clemson, has implemented a simple plan, which is to “learn how the body works as a machine and put students in a position to manipulate that machine to improve recovery and performance.”

Tiger players have been responding very positively to the work that Bina and “The CASL” have done for them, and as a program, Clemson has seen tremendous success in terms of both its players’ short and long-term recoveries.

Bina wants to ensure that “everything possible is being done” to get them back to their peak performance as healthily and as quickly as possible.

As far as long-term and overarching goals and aspirations for “The CASL,” Bina offered the following.

“When we talk about, ‘Best is the Standard,’ that means in all ways possible. This is just another piece of that puzzle.” 🐾

PERFORMANCE NUTRITION

Going “All In” is a frequently used sports adage that stems from the bold yet committed and confident decision made in a game of poker. While in sports, a promise made by an athlete, a coach or an executive to go “All In” is typically used rather loosely, usually referencing an unabated drive to win. For the Clemson program, it is the bedrock that the team’s foundation is built upon.

As part of its holistic approach to winning, Clemson University and its athletic department have also been “All In” with the football program, as evinced by the construction of the state-of-the-art Allen N. Reeves Football Complex. And a glowing example of the comprehensive approach to football is the team’s performance nutrition program.

One of the primary components of the complex is the Hendrix Family “Paw Bistro” Athletic Dining Hall. More than a cafeteria, the facility is a small part of the incredible work being conducted by the football program’s performance nutrition team.

Spearheaded by Director of Nutrition Meaghan Turcotte, Assistant Amy Santos, Executive Performance Chef Dalton Ledford, a graduate assistant, 14 student workers and an expert and dedicated Hendrix Family “Paw Bistro” food service staff, the program is virtually one of a kind in the realm of college athletics in the fact that it forms the basis of an entire entity centered around the nutrition of one particular program.

More than just credentialed nutrition and skilled culinary professionals, Turcotte and Santos are performance specialists with keen understandings of the intricate and all-important nature of a student-athlete’s diet.

Goal-oriented, the performance nutrition program is built around a never-ending drive for betterment. Complete with one-on-one meetings with players, where nutritional goals and plans are outlined, and added life skills, such as cooking classes and grocery store tours, it is making positive waves.

As a result, positive effects from the program are put on display via the players’ showings on the field and in the weight room, all byproducts of the steadfast dedication put forth by the performance nutrition specialists.

While an average workday for Turcotte and Santos could span as long as 13 hours, the commitment to providing players with the best nutritional advice and service possible is the primary component of what makes the unique program so special.

From scheduled purposeful snacks throughout the day to post-practice refueling routines, the nutrition staff ensures that fueling, hydration and recovery with a performance mindset are priorities.

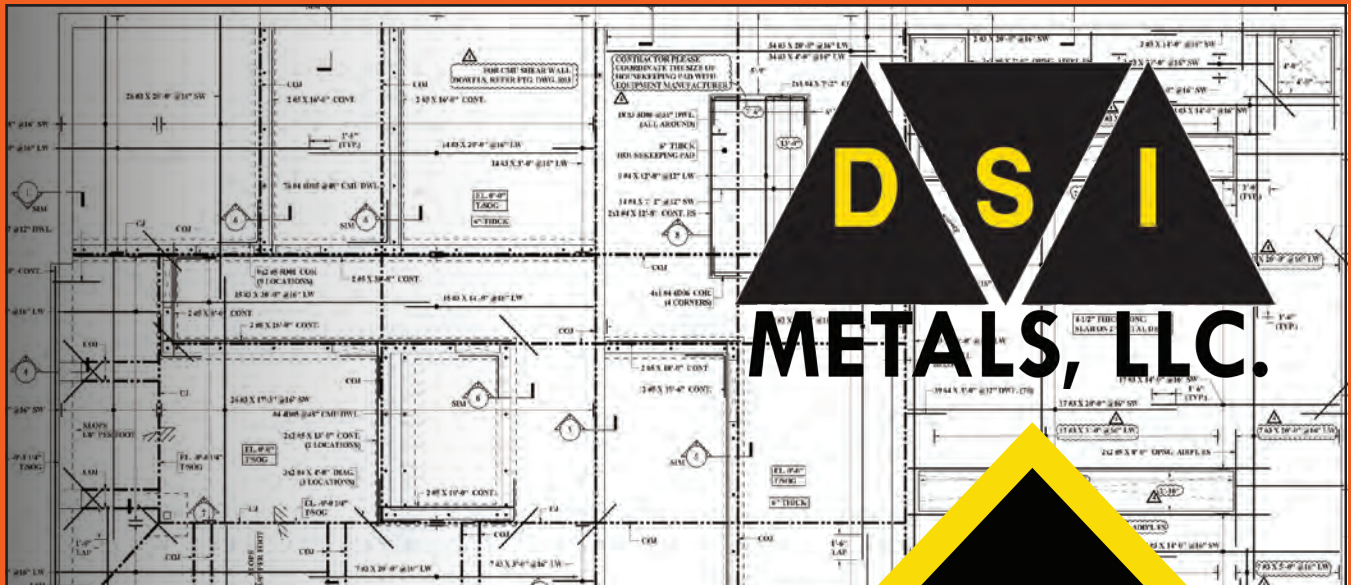

The program serves top-notch foods that are ideal for providing players with the appropriate and healthy nourishment required of performing at a high level on the gridiron. The staff is passionate about its craft, constantly tweaking the menu and making notice of each player’s dietary preferences and needs.

The perfect complement of the “All In” philosophy, the football performance nutrition team is committed to helping players compete as well as possible, and are thereby key cogs in the well-oiled machine that is Clemson football. 🐾

NIERI FAMILY STUDENT-ATHLETE ENRICHMENT CENTER

When the Nieri Family Student-Athlete Enrichment Center officially opened on the west side of Memorial Stadium on Aug. 9, 2017, it became the new home of Clemson student-athlete enrichment services. The facility was a result of a $2.5 million cornerstone gift pledged to Tiger athletics by Michael (Clemson '86) and Robyn Nieri and their family.

The Nieri Family Student-Athlete Enrichment Center has 27 full-time staff members in athletic academic advising, educational services and student-athlete development, as well as multiple graduate assistants and over 100 student employees who serve as content tutors and strategic mentors.

It is the mission of the staff to help student-athletes succeed and maintain high standards academically, to reach their goals in the classroom and with career planning and to prepare them for a future in the working world.

In addition to staff offices, the 43,000 square-foot facility includes 44 tutor rooms, abundant study hall space, a large auditorium and several quiet spaces for free study. In 2023, "Nieri CAB" (Clemson Athletics Branding Institute) was constructed and five mental health and sport psychologist professionals joined the staff.

The center and its staff offer countless resources for student-athletes to enable and enhance their academic success. Athletic academic coordinators meet weekly with students to assist in course tracking, discuss academic progress and teach productive classroom behaviors, organization, time management and study habits. Coordinators also support student-athletes in major exploration along with registration and course selection, including priority registration.

The educational services staff develops and implements individualized academic success plans to help identified student-athletes strengthen their academic skills through research-based learning strategies and study skills. This department also trains and works with content-specific tutors and strategic mentors to assist Tiger student-athletes in their specific areas of study, as well as to provide additional support as the student-athletes grow their organization and time-management skills.

The student-athlete development program is dedicated to the holistic development of Clemson student-athletes, propelling them toward success, not only during college, but in life, through career development, community service and outreach, leadership development and personal enhancement and responsibility.

Student-athletes are prepared for career readiness via professional development programs, internship placement, resumé assistance and mock interviews. They are encouraged to establish community partnerships by participating in individual and team service opportunities and outreach projects. Additional programming supports their development as individuals and leaders.

The support from the facility has played a large part in both Tiger football's and Clemson athletics' classroom success. In the most-recent report, student-athletes had a 96-percent graduation success rate, tied for second highest by a public institution for the second year in a row, while football's 98-percent graduation success means Clemson is the only FBS program with a 98-percent mark in each of the last three cohorts.

Clemson athletics' GPA has increased for nine consecutive semesters, with a spring GPA of 3.35, highest in history for the department. A total of 12 programs earned NCAA Public Recognition Awards for ranking in the top-10-percent of the APR as well.

Since its inception in 1991, the department, initially located in Vickery Hall on Clemson's campus until the move to the Nieri Family Student-Athlete Enrichment Center in 2017, has seen its name and location evolve over 35 years. However, its continued commitment and dedication to Clemson student-athletes and their pursuit of excellence has remained unwavering. 🐾

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

As part of the Allen N. Reeves Football Complex that opened on Feb. 1, 2017, the Tiger program opened one of the top strength training facilities in the nation. The 23,000 square-foot football facility has all the latest in modern strength training that helps the Tigers prepare year-round.

The facility, under the direction of first-year Director of Strength & Conditioning Dennis Love, includes 20 inlay platforms, 30 pieces of cardio equipment, a full line of fatbells, kettlebells and dumbbells, eight different training zones and a nutrition bar.

It also has a high-tech sound system, many flatscreens and the best lighting available that puts wall graphics in full view, leading to the best possible work environment. In 2023, a videoboard was constructed inside the strength training facility as well.

The facility is attached to the indoor football facility and faces the outdoor practice fields, making for the most convenient and efficient facility in the nation. 🐾

If an IPTAY member has a business and would like to pursue any NIL partnerships with a Tiger student-athlete, reach out to the athletics compliance office first.

UNIVERSITY

The following is an NCAA rules education aimed at outlining basic rules to help all fans and potential boosters, as well as helping student-athletes, better understand the rules and regulations in the ever-changing landscape. Clemson is committed to recruiting and conducting our athletic program with the highest level of integrity. 🐾

A BOOSTER INCLUDES ANYONE WHO:

- Participates or has been a member of an organization promoting Clemson athletics (e.g., IPTAY member).
- Provides a donation/contribution to Clemson athletics (e.g., season ticket purchase).
- Assists or has been requested by Clemson staff to assist in a prospect's recruitment.
- Assists in providing benefits to enrolled student-athletes or their families.
- Has been involved otherwise in promoting Clemson athletics.

INTERACTION WITH CURRENT STUDENT-ATHLETES

Provide ANY type of gift or benefit to a Clemson student-athlete or his/her family members. Examples include money in any form, discounts, lodging, transportation, meals, gifts (of any value) and complimentary tickets.

Use a current student-athlete's name, image or likeness (NIL) to promote products or services without a quid pro quo (i.e., something for something) arrangement. For example, extra benefits remain impermissible in 2026. However, a student-athlete may receive compensation for use of his/her NIL.

CAN

Provide summer employment for the student-athlete (with prior Clemson compliance approval), so long as he/she is paid for work actually performed, paid for hours actually worked, paid at the same rate as anyone doing the same job and not used in promotions for an employer.

Collect autographs and photos with our team members. However, no payment or gifts may be involved unless there is NIL activity with a quid pro quo. Also, NIL activity must be separate and distinct from team-mandated activities.

INTERACTION WITH RECRUITS

Provide ANY type of gift or benefit to a recruit or his/her family members. Examples include:

- Money in any form
- Discounts
- Lodging
- Transportation
- Meals
- Gifts (of any value)
- Complimentary tickets

Contact a recruit (or his/her family) via text, email or social media for a recruiting purpose.

Face-to-face contact either on or off campus (includes family members if no previously established relationship).

Employ relatives, guardians or friends of a prospect as an inducement for the prospect's enrollment and athletics participation at Clemson.

CAN

Accept a phone call from a recruit or his/her family. However, you/it:

- Can't initiate a call.
- Can't talk about athletics or recruitment.
- Can't be at the direction of Clemson staff.

Continue ESTABLISHED family relationships with a recruit and his/her family (but not for recruiting purposes).

Attend a game in which recruits are participating (no contact with recruit or their family).

Notify Clemson coaching staff members about noteworthy prospects in the area.

Our MISSION is to provide TIMELY, ACCURATE IMAGING INTERPRETATIONS to aid in diagnosing a patient's condition. Our COMMITMENT TO QUALITY, CONVENIENCE AND COMPASSIONATE CARE reassures each patient that they are OUR FIRST PRIORITY. A dedicated team.

DEDICATED TO YOU.

FINDING YOUR WAY STARTS WITH CLARITY.

CULTIVATED SIGNAGE + WAYFINDING FOR COMPLEX ENVIRONMENTS

A PROJECT SPOTLIGHT:

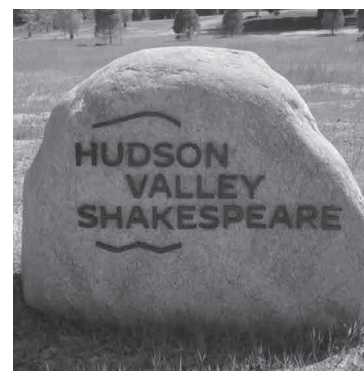

HUDSON VALLEY SHAKESPEARE

When Hudson Valley Shakespeare set out to create a more meaningful visitor experience, they partnered with Ayo Ridge to develop a signage program rooted in clarity, care, and respect for the land.

From the welcoming monument sign to the landscape-integrated rock sign, each element was designed with ecofriendly materials to live in harmony with its surroundings. A thoughtful wayfinding system guides visitors with ease, while a land acknowledgment honors the site's history and deepens the overall experience.

Ayo Ridge partners with colleges, universities, architects, contractors, healthcare systems, housing developers, and national brands to create signage and wayfinding programs that bring clarity to complex environments.

From planning and permitting through fabrication, installation, and ongoing program management, we help organizations create spaces that are easier to navigate, safer to use, and stronger reflections of their brand.
