SEASON PREVIEW

New coach, new blood, new year. With the addition of seasoned head coach Amanda Butler and an experienced coaching staff, the Tigers look to turn the tides and regain prominence in the women's basketball sphere.

"We are excited to see how high the ceiling of this team is and see how it all unfolds and evolves," said Butler. "It is a team that has some surprising potential and, if we can sustain the work and energy that we have, then it is going to be a fun and rewarding season."

Butler enters the 2018-19 season with a collection of unique and talented players. Clemson will need this year's crop of seniors to step up and provide leadership following the loss of senior Ivy Atkism and amidst the transition between coaching staffs.

"We have three seniors and I hope that we allow them to have a senior year that they feel really good about," said Butler "I hope they have a senior year that is a great example for our juniors and sophomores and freshmen of what success looks like as a senior."

Steady leadership and communication is key as the Tigers compete against some of the best programs in the country. The 2018-19 slate features 11 NCAA Tournament teams from a season ago, highlighted by reigning National Champion, Notre Dame. Clemson competes in the always-stacked Atlantic Coast Conference, a league that featured eight 20-win teams in 2017-18 and two Final Four programs (Louisville and Notre Dame). The ACC produces perennial National Championship contenders as an ACC teams has appeared in the National Championship game in seven of the last eight seasons.

Clemson returns seven players from a season ago, while adding six newcomers - three freshmen and three transfers - to round out the roster of 13.

Guards

Clemson is deepest at the guard position and Butler prides herself on having a guard group that is extremely versatile and can play almost anywhere on the court. The point guard unit is a highlight of this year's team led by Danielle Edwards, who returns as the floor general for her senior season. Edwards started all 30 games for Clemson a season ago and averaged 9.2 points per game, good for third on the team.

Redshirt junior Keniece Purvis and newcomer Camreé Clegg provide depth at the point for the Tigers. Purvis brings more veteran experience to the position, while Clegg, a three-time All-State player from Michigan, has showed herself to be a threat from deep.

"There is a lot of versatility in that they are not solely point guards and can be on the floor together," said Butler. "They are shooters and there is a tremendous amount of experience in the point guard group."

The Tigers shored up at guard during the offseason, adding a pair of transfers in Simone Westbrook and Kendall Spray. Westbrook, a graduate transfer from Florida, is a huge asset for Clemson as she is the only current Tiger to have already played for Coach Butler. The graduate student is a proven play-maker with a competitive streak and an ability to get to the basket.

Spray will sit this season out after transferring from the University of Tennessee-Martin but will be a valuable 3-point shooter for Clemson in 2019-20. Fellow sophomore Destiny Thomas brings additional support to the guard group, starting 14 of the Tigers' 30 games last season and putting in valuable minutes for Clemson.

The Tigers are fortunate to have both experience and an influx of talent at the wings this season. Upperclassmen Aliyah Collier and Chyna Cotton lend experience to the position, while freshman Skylar Blackstock increases the depth for the Tigers at wing.

"We have really good size and versatility in the guard group with people who can just as easily play the four as they can the three or the two," Butler said. "There is a lot of speed in the unit and a lot of confidence in the open court with the ball."

Posts

The height on the team displays itself at the post position, led by the leading scorer from last season, Kobi Thornton. The junior averaged 11.1 points per game and shot a team-best .428 from the field in 2017-18.

Thornton, along with newcomer Taylor Hosendove provide versatility at the four-spot, which is imperative in a Butler-style offense that runs a lot of plays through the power forwards. The skill and combination-type play from Thornton and Hosendove allows the Tigers to take advantage of mismatches in the paint.

"They have the ability to be a threat from the 3-point line, but the more threatening aspect of their play is their ability to be fantastic perimeter rebounders," said Butler. "The speed they offer in transition and the defensive potential of the group gives us a great advantage."

Up-and-comer Tylar Bennett and transfer Mikayla Hayes dominate the paint for Clemson in the traditional center position. Bennett, one of the most improved players from a season ago, according to Butler, was a constant presence on the court for the Tigers during the 2017-18 season. The addition of Hayes, who Butler recruited out of high school at Florida, gives Clemson some wiggle-room at the five-spot.

"Our fives have to be our communication anchors on defense and really establish our presence in the paint on both ends of the floor," said Butler. "It's a really dynamic group that can very effectively run the floor and play the game well with their backs to the basket."

Defense

With players like Edwards and Thornton, much of this team's identity is rooted in the defensive side of the ball. The Tigers ranked fifth in the ACC in both scoring defense and field goal percentage defense during the 2017-18 season, holding opponents to an average of 60.3 points per game.

Thornton led Clemson in blocked shots, averaging 1.7 blocks per game (fifth in the ACC), while Edwards tallied 2.6 steals per game, good for second in the ACC. The point guard also posted nine steals against South Carolina State, an ACC record last season and earned All-ACC Defensive Team honors.

Transfer Westbrook will add to the Tigers' defensive scheme as she was an All-SEC Defensive Team selection while playing at Florida.

Overall

With a new team and a new system, Butler and the Tigers are somewhat of an unknown commodity in the ACC and the capability to surprise people. With the goal of being the more aggressive, more competitive team on the court, Butler instills a 'go until you're stopped' mentality in the team that should translate into an exciting season.

"I want to reflect back on a year that we are proud of and that can be an indication of how good we can be in the future."

AMANDA BUTLER

Head Coach • First Season • Florida ('95)

With 20-plus years of coaching experience under her belt, including 12 seasons as a Division I head coach, Amanda Butler has all the tools and experience to take over the helm of the Clemson women's basketball program. Butler stepped into her role as head coach on April 12, 2018, ready to make her mark on Clemson.

A Successful Career

With an overall head coaching record of 230-159, Butler is no stranger to success, having led her team to 10 postseason berths in 12 years. Four of those 10 postseason appearances came in the NCAA Tournament, advancing to the Second Round three times and the First Round once.

In 12 years at the Division I level, Butler has coached her teams to seven 20-win seasons, including a 24-8 season while with the Gators, tying a program record for wins in a season.

365 Days and 23,273 Miles Later

Following her time at Florida, Butler spent the 2017-18 season seeing basketball through a different lens by putting herself in a learning environment every single day. Butler spent time with the Orland Magic's Summer League team, observed the values instilled by Thunder coaches and absorbed information at the Celtics' annual clinics.

In addition to filling pages of paper with basketball strategy, Butler had the opportunity to work for the the SEC Network and ESPN. As an analyst, she was afforded the chance to view basketball from yet another angle and provide a voice for the women's basketball community.

Time with the Gators

Most recently, Butler spent 10 seasons at the head of the Florida Gators women's basketball program, posting a 190-137 record in that span with eight postseason berths. She averaged 19.0 wins per season in her 10 years at Florida and was responsible for six of the program's 15 total 20-win seasons.

Under her direction, the 2008-09 squad (24-8) cracked the top-25 in the national polls for the first time since the 2001-02 season. Butler coached the team to a program-best 15-game winning streak and won a program-record seven consecutive games against SEC teams.

Butler's mentorship led to 10 All-SEC selections and eight All-SEC Freshman Team honorees during her 10 years at Florida. Following the spectacular 2008-09 season, Sha Brooks received WBCA and AP All-America Honorable Mention status.

As a coach, Butler was a United States Marine Corps/WBCA NCAA Division I National Coach of the Year finalist in 2016.

Head Coach Debut

Butler began her head coaching career at Charlotte, where the 49ers posted a 40-22 record in two seasons. She led the 49ers to two WNIT berths and the team's first-ever share of the Atlantic 10 Conference regular-season championship.

In her debut season, Butler's team posted a 21-9 mark and a WNIT appearance, earning her Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year honors.

Stops Along the Way

After graduating from Florida in 1994, Butler transitioned into an assistant coach role with the team under then-Florida coach Carol Ross. In two seasons as an assistant coach, Butler mentored the team to two NCAA Tournament berths, including an Elite Eight appearance.

She spent the next four seasons a little closer to home, serving as an assistant coach for Austin Peay State University in Tennessee. While there, Butler took over the recruiting efforts for the Lady Govs, an effort that translated into immense success as one of her recruits, Brooke Armistead, went on to earn OVC Freshman of the Year (2000) and OVC Player of the Year (2003).

In May of 2001, Butler took her talents to the state of North Carolina, joining the Charlotte women's basketball staff as an assistant coach. In her second year with the program, the 49ers captured the 2003 Confer-

Butler went on to a standout playing career at the University of Florida. During her junior and senior seasons, she led the Gators to the first two NCAA Tournament appearances in program history.

A three-time member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll, she was voted a finalist on the CoSIDA Academic All-America District Team. 2017-18 REVIEW

Team Effort

The 2017-18 season was a team effort as nine different players averaged at least 18.0 minutes per game throughout the season. Eight of those nine players tallied a start during the 2017-18 campaign, led by junior Danielle Edwards who started all 30 games for the Tigers.

Additionally, every single Clemson player (14 total) recorded a point, an assist and a rebound in 2017-18. Seven players notched double-digit steals throughout the season, as well.

Strong on Defense

The Tigers ranked fifth in the ACC in both scoring defense and field goal pct defense during the 2017-18 season, holding opponents to an average of 60.3 points per game.

Junior Danielle Edwards tallied 2.6 steals per game, good for second in the ACC. The Maryland native posted an ACC single-game season best nine steals against South Carolina State, marking a new career-high for Edwards.

From the Charity Stripe

Clemson had some rocks at the free throw line this season as five Tigers posted free throw percentages that exceed 70 percent. Alexis Carter and Danielle Edwards each recorded perfect free throw games knocking down 12-of-12 and 10-of-10, respectively.

Sophomore Standouts

It was the year of the sophomores as the duo of Kobi Thornton and Jaia Alexander paced the Tigers in points per game with 11.1 and 9.3 points per game, respectively.

Thornton, who returns to Clemson this season as the leading point-scorer, also led the 2017-18 squad in rebounds (7.0/game), blocks (51) and total points (334). She averaged 26.8 minutes per game and shot .428 from the field, the second-best percentage on the team.

Junior forward Kobi Thornton was the Tigers' leading point-scorer in 2017-18.

Non-Conference Warriors

Clemson posted a 10-3 record in non-conference action a season ago, including a season-long five-game win streak from Nov. 30 to Dec. 17.

The Tigers held their non-conference opponents to under 60 points in eight of the 13 games, including a season-low 28 points by Kennesaw State.

The highlight of the non-conference slate came at Nebraska for the ACC/ Big 10 Challenge, when Clemson defeated the Cornhuskers, 67-66, on a last-minute shot.

Honors and Accolades

For her defensive performance throughout the season, Dani Edwards earned All-ACC Defensive Team honors at the end of the year. The junior recorded 78 steals on the season, marking her third consecutive season with at least 50 steals.

Edwards added to her resume by performing both on the court and in the classroom, earning her an Academic All-ACC nod. The junior, along with fellow Tigers Ivy Atkism, Sirah Diarra, MaKayla Johnson, Francesca Tagliapietra, Destiny Thomas and Kobi Thornton were tabbed to the ACC Academic Honor Roll at the end of the school year.

No Fly Zone

The Tigers tallied 144 blocked shots as a team last season, sneaking into the top five in program history for team single-season blocks. Four Tigers, Thornton, Tylar Bennett, Edwards and Aliyah Collier posted double-digit blocks in 2017-18.

Thornton led the Tigers averaging 1.7 blocked shots per game (fifth in the ACC), while Bennett followed closely behind carding 1.4 per game to rank seventh in the conference.

The Tigers posted a team-best 13 blocks against Prairie View A&M, tying the ACC single-game high for team blocks last season.

PAST COACHES

Mary King 1975-1976

Mary Kennerty King served as the first head coach of the Clemson women's basketball and women's tennis teams after Athletic Director Bill McLellan announced that the university would begin women's programs in both for the 1975-76 season. King earned a Bachelor's of Arts in secondary education from Clemson in 1973.

She spent the next year teaching history and coaching girls' basketball at Russell High School in Atlanta, GA before returning to Clemson as a graduate student. The women's basketball team compiled a 14-11 record in its inaugural season under King, while the women's tennis team went 10-6 in its first year.

King continued to coach the tennis team for the next six years but handed over the reins to the basketball team to Annie Tribble.

Annie Tribble 1976-1987

Annie Tribble was named the head coach of the Lady Tiger basketball program on May 28, 1976 and held the position until February 28, 1987. She compiled an impressive 200-135 ledger at Clemson with a 348-147 record in 19 years of collegiate coaching. Seven times her teams collected 20 or more victories, and she guided the Lady Tigers to seven post-season tournaments.

Prior to Clemson, Tribble spent nine seasons at Anderson Junior College, where she directed the Trojans to three National Junior College Championships and one runner-up finish. She won over 82 percent of her games at Anderson, finishing with a 155-33 record.

Player honors during Tribble's reign include five All-Americans and eight all-conference players. In addition, Tribble was named the South Carolina Coach-ofthe-Year in 1977 and served as the coach of the South Team for the National Sports Festival III games in 1981.

A member of many collegiate steering committees, Tribble was a guiding force on the United States Olympic Committee that was instrumental in selecting the 1976 U.S. Silver Medal team.

Jim Davis 1987-2005

Jim Davis spent 18 seasons at the helm of the Lady Tiger basketball program, guiding Clemson to 355 victories in 552 games. He brought the program into national prominence and left as the winningest basketball coach in Clemson history, men or women. He led the Lady Tigers to 14 NCAA Tournament appearances and 11 final national rankings.

Davis is the only Clemson basketball coach to win the ACC Championship, leading the Lady Tigers to the tournament title in 1996 and 1999. He finished with 51 wins over top 25 teams, and his teams won at least 20 games in 11 of his 18 seasons with Clemson. Under Davis' direction, 16 former Tigers achieved AlI-ACC status. Included in the list was Jessica Barr, the 1994 ACC Player-of-the-Year. Davis coached Itoro Umoh to three AlI-ACC seasons and former great Chrissy Floyd to four AlI-ACC seasons.

Davis also coached two ACC Tournament MVPs in Laura Cottrell and Umoh. Cottrell claimed the honors in 1996 when Davis led the Tigers to their first ever ACC Championship. Umoh was named MVP in 1999 when Davis and the Tigers claimed their second conference title. Clemson had four selections to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary team in 2002, and three of the four played under Davis.

In 2002-03, Davis' team did not make postseason play for the first time in 16 years under his direction. That is quite an accomplishment when you consider the duration of his tenure with the Lady Tigers. The 2001-02 season saw Davis win his 300th game at Clemson. The Lady Tigers finished the year with a 17-12 record overall, and another NCAA appearance.

In the 2000-01 season, Clemson advanced to the NCAA Tournament's second round, and the Lady Tigers finished the season with a 21-10 record overall. Clemson was ranked 22nd in both the USA Today and Associated Press final polls. The Lady Tigers also had four wins over top 25 teams. The 1999-2000 season Clemson finished with a 19-12 record overall and advanced to the NCAA Tournament's second round.

The 1998-99 season was a record-breaking year as the Tigers finished with a 26-6 record overall and the school's second ACC Championship in four years. His team also advanced to the NCAA's Final 16, his fourth visit to this level in his Clemson career. Clemson was also seeded second in the Mideast Region, the highest seed in the school's history. The Tigers also were ranked 10th in the final Associated Press poll, the highest finish for the Tigers ever in that poll.

The 1997-98 season was a record-breaking year as the Lady Tigers set the school record for most ACC wins (12) in a single season as Clemson finished with a 25-8 record overall. The Lady Tigers also went undefeated at home (13-0) for the first time in school history. The Lady Tigers finished 14th in the Associated Press poll and 21st in the USA Today listing.

In 1996-97, Davis became the school's winningest coach. He also guided the Tigers to another NCAA Tournament appearance. The 1996-97 Tigers finished ranked 21st in the Associated Press poll and 25th in the USA Today listing.

At the 1996 ACC Tournament, Davis led his fourth-seeded Tigers to the championship with victories over North Carolina, Virginia, and Duke, the school's first ACC Championship.

Clemson finished the magical 1995-96 season with a 23-8 record overall, then tied for the second most victories in a season by a Clemson team. Clemson was seeded third in the 1996 NCAA Midwest region. The Lady Tigers also finished 14th in the 1996 final Associated Press poll.

In 1991, Davis led the Lady Tigers to the NCAA Tournament's Elite Eight, before Clemson lost in the finals of the East Regional. It was the farthest Clemson ever advanced in a women's postseason national tournament.

The Lady Tigers concluded the 1990-91 season with a 22-11 record overall, and ranked 21st in the final Associated Press poll, and eighth in the final USA Today poll. The eighth-place ranking is the highest the Lady Tigers have ever been ranked in any poll at any time.

In 1989 and 1990, the Lady Tigers advanced to the NCAA Tournament's Final 16. In 1990, he was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year, the first of two selections (1994 the other) for Davis.

In 1987-88, his rookie campaign at Clemson, Davis put his stamp on the Lady Tiger program in unprecedented fashion. In one short year, he tripled the number of wins of the 1986-87 team by turning a 7-21 club into a 21-9 squad in 1987-88, and it was also the best turnaround season in the history of the ACC.

Davis became the third women's basketball coach in Clemson history on April 1, 1987, another illustrious step in a career that saw him excel on every level of coaching from junior high to head coaching at a major college.

Davis graduated from Tennessee Wesleyan in 1970 with a B.S. degree in health and physical education. After doing graduate work at East Tennessee State, he received his master's degree in supervision and administration from Tennessee Tech in 1975.

In 1996, Davis was inducted into the Tennessee Junior and Community College Athletic Association (TJCCAA) Hall-of-Fame. In the fall of 1996, he was inducted into Tiger Brotherhood, an honorary fraternity that promotes high standards of social and ethical conduct while recognizing in its members an earnest devotion to Clemson, coupled with the integrity of character commensurate with a typical Clemson gentleman or lady. Davis was also inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame in the fall of 2008.

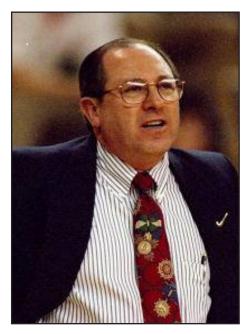

Cristy McKinney 2005-2010

Cristy McKinney served as head coach of the program for five seasons from 2005-06 until 2009-10. McKinney coached one of Clemson's best players in Lele Hardy.

McKinney coached Hardy to two All-ACC seasons and two ACC All-Defensive team selections. Hardy ended her career ranked fifth in Clemson history in scoring, third in rebounding, and first in steals. Her 398 steals ranked 23rd in NCAA Division-I history when she ended her career in 2009-10.

McKinney improved on the win totals in three of her five seasons, and led Clemson to its first home winning mark in ACC play since the 2002-03 season in 2009-10 when the Tigers went 4-3 in league play and 9-5 at home overall.

Prior to her time at Clemson, McKinney spent nine seasons at Rice, where her teams won 20 or more games six times. McKinney attended NC State where she played under Kay Yow. McKinney still holds freshman scoring records for the Wolfpack, and she ended her career with more than 1000 points and 500 rebounds.

PAST COACHES 🏾 🦰

Itoro Coleman

2010-12

Itoro Coleman spent three seasons as the head coach of the program. She compiled a career record of 25-63 as Clemson's head coach, and a 10-38 record in ACC play.

She led Clemson to an historic win at No. 21 North Carolina, the first signature win as a head coach, during the 2011-12 season. It was Clemson's first win against a ranked team on the road since the 2003-04 season, and the Tigers held the Heels to their fewest points in school history at home in the 52-47 win.

Defensively, Coleman's team took 23 charges in 2011-12, and set a school record for shot-blocking with 168, which ranked fourth-best in the nation.

As a player at Clemson, she led the Tigers to a pair of ACC Tournament championships as the team's point guard. Clemson won the conference title her freshman (1995-96) and her senior years (1998-99). She was the tournament's MVP as a senior, in addition to a first-team All-ACC selection.

That same season, she was an honorable mention AP All-American. She was selected to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary team in 2002, one of just four Clemson players honored by the conference. Coleman still ranks 11th in Clemson history in scoring (1,409 points), fourth in games played (127), second in free throws made, third in assists, and first in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.73).

Clemson had a record of 93-33 in her four years as a player, the most wins in Clemson history for a senior class. Her senior class won the only two ACC Championships in school history, played in four NCAA Tournaments, including one Sweet 16 season, and all four of her teams were ranked in the final top-25, including a final #10 AP rank in 1999. She was inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame as a player in 2008.

Audra Smith 2012-2018

Audra Smith took over the Clemson program prior to the 2012-13 season, looking to revitalize the Tigers. Building momentum of the seasons, Smith coached the Tigers to a 15-16 record during her fourth season at the helm, 11 more games than Clemson had won the previous year and the best record since 2003-04.

The Tigers were 11-2 in non-conference play in 2016-17, the program's best non-conference record since 2003-04. The team's only two non-conference losses came to top-25 teams (No. 6 South Carolina and No. 25 Oregon). The program went 13-19 in Smith's first season, 2013-14, and the 13 wins were the most by the team since 2009-10.

Smith coached a pair of Atlantic Coast Conference Players of the Week in Nyilah Jamison-Myers (12/17/2012) and Danielle Edwards (12/28/2015), in addition to five ACC All-Academic Team honorees.

Before coming to Clemson, Smith served as the head coach at the University of Alabama-Birmingham for eight seasons and an assistant coach at her alma mater, Virginia (1994-2004).

A native of Milledgeville, GA, where she was named Miss Georgia Basketball in 1988. She graduated from Virginia with a degree in sociology and is married to former Virginia basketball player Anthony Oliver, who played for the Cavaliers from 1988-92.

Amy Geren and Itoro Umoh were both named First-Team All-ACC.

Itoro Umoh had 12 points, 11 rebounds, and 10 assists in recording a triple double as she led Clemson to a 78-38 win over Wake Forest on January 17. This was only the fifth time a player in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference has recorded a triple double and the second time in Clemson history.

The 11-0 start for Clemson tied the school record for consecutive wins at the beginning of the season.

Coach Jim Davis was named ACC Coach of the Year and Itoro Umoh was named all-region in the Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA) District II.

Clemson had three 1,000-point scorers on the 1998-99 squad - Itoro Umoh (1,409), Amy Geren (1,402), and Natasha Anderson (1,033). The senior class of Itoro Umoh, Amy Geren, Natasha Anderson, and Nikki Blassingame became the winningest class in Clemson history with a record of 93-33 for a .738 percentage.
